

THE GENRES OF FICTION

In our fiction section, books are organized by genre. A genre is a style or type of writing. Below you will find a description of each genre in our fiction section

1 ADVENTURE

These are books with an adventure in the story. Some examples include: Hatchet, On the Run, and Scorpia.

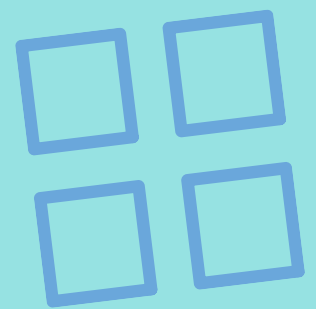

2 FANTASY

These are books that include fantasy. This means books with witches, vampires, fairies, and talking animals. Fantasy stories are ones dealing with supernatural or unnatural events or characters. Examples include Twilight, Harry and Harry Potter.

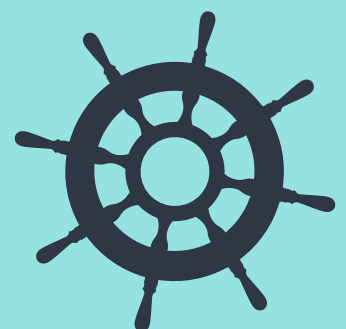

3 GRAPHIC NOVELS

These are books written using graphics. Naruto is an example of a graphic novel. We also have a large selection of your favorite stories told in graphic novel form.

4 HISTORICAL FICTION

These are books written using things that happened in history to make the story. Novels are usually set among actual events or a specific period of history. Here you will find the Royal Diaries and My America books.

5 HORROR

These are books that are scary and have plots that create apprehension and excitement to find out what happens. Here you will find the Cirque Du Freak series as well as the American Chillers series.

6 MYSTERY

Here you will find books that have a mystery in the story. Novels, short stories, or plays will include a plot that involves a crime or other event that remains puzzlingly unsettled until the very end.

7 REALISTIC FICTION

These are books that have a real quality. You will find stories about teens and people just like you and I and their lives. Sometimes these stories can be very serious and sometimes they can be very funny.

8 SCIENCE FICTION

Here you will find books in which fantasy, typically based on scientific discoveries or developments, environmental changes, space travel, or life on other planets, forms part of the plot or background.
